More About the Process

Many ask what they need to do to prepare for their landscaping install. There is no preparation necessary. When you contact us, you will be added to our installation schedule. We will email 2 weeks before the installation date to let you know approximately when we will start. Once your installation date has arrived, Mountains Edge will grade your yard, lay down screened loam, and do any planting included in your package. The final step will be laying down the sod in the predetermined areas of your yard. Landscaping can occur over several days, with grading, loam, planting and laying sod happening in stages. Once your package is complete, we require you to provide us with your signed Landscape Certificate. We will make arrangements with you as to how we will collect these when your installation date is closer.
